Transforming lives

Dear Prevention Professionals and Youth Leaders:

Welcome to the 32nd Annual Prevention Summit, "Use Your Voice!" We are excited to offer this opportunity to gather with those working in our state toward the success and health of youth, families and communities.

The prevention community in Washington State has been meeting annually since the early 1980s. Despite changes over time in name, location and planning leadership, the spirit of the annual Summit remains constant. It is the one time during the year when the prevention community can come together, reflect on the past year's successes, learn new strategies, network with a variety of people, and plan for the future.

The goal of the 2017 Prevention Summit is to provide an enriching and culturally appropriate training and networking opportunity for youth, volunteers and professionals who are working to prevent substance abuse, encourage safe communities and healthy choices. The Summit will also address integration of prevention efforts with primary healthcare and mental health promotion. We want to reach highly experienced youth and adults as well as those who are new to prevention, and continue to build on our foundation of success in Washington State.

Over the next day and a half at the Summit, you will have the opportunity to hear from youth and adult leaders in our field. You will hear presentations from experts on the challenges they have faced in this work and successful strategies for continuing to create amazing results. We encourage you to take the time to network with one another, share and learn from each other's experience while creating an opportunity to strengthen your prevention efforts. We would like to thank those on the Summit Planning Committee who have worked hard all year to create a program that addresses our current challenges, and provides compelling strategies to successfully move into the future through inspiration and innovation. A special thanks to all of the leaders in our state that were and continue to be part of prevention services throughout the past 32 years.

Help us recognize and applaud our prevention workforce as they successfully Use Their Voices! We hope you enjoy the 2017 program!

Sincerely,

Chris Imhoff, LICSW, Director
Division of Behavioral Health and Recovery

How to Participate in the LCB Rule Making Process

The Liquor and Cannabis Board uses rules to define, apply, implement, and enforce laws about alcohol, tobacco, and cannabis in Washington State. Rules affect how laws interact with your communities and schools, and that's why we want your input! Sign up on our rules listserv to receive rule making activity notifications.

Rule Making Timeline

Step 1

When a law is passed or a rule is being updated, a CR101 is filed to notify the public that the rule making process has begun.

The public (that means YOU!) has a minimum of 45 days to provide input in the rule making process. During this time, a proposal of the rule changes are written.

Step 2

The LCB files a CR102 to notify the public (yes, that's you) of the proposed rules. You have a minimum of 35 days to provide written comments. See CR102 for comment deadlines.

Step 3

The LCB holds a public hearing, so you can provide your comments on the proposed rules in person. If you can't attend the meeting, you can send written comments by the comment deadline.

Step 4

The LCB considers comments, and if there are no major changes, they move forward into rule adoption. If public comment leads to a substantial change in the rules, the draft is rewritten to incorporate comments, and the process goes back to Step 2.

Step 5

Once the rules are adopted, the CR103 is filed, and the rule becomes effective 31 days later unless otherwise specified.

Ph.D., Associate Professor, Psychiatry & Behavioral Sciences & Assistant Director of Health & Wellness for Alcohol & Other Drug Education, Division of Student Life

Dr. Jason Kilmer received his Ph.D. in Clinical Psychology from the University of Washington in 1997, and currently works at the University of Washington in both a student affairs and a research capacity. Jason is an Associate Professor in Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences, and serves as an investigator on several studies evaluating prevention and intervention efforts for alcohol, marijuana, and other drug use by college students. He is also the Assistant Director of Health and Wellness for Alcohol and Other Drug Education in the Division of Student Life, working with different areas across campus (including health, counseling, Greek life, residence life, and intercollegiate athletics) to increase student access to evidence-based approaches. Jason also serves as the chairperson of Washington's College Coalition for Substance Abuse Prevention. Jason was the 2014 recipient of the National Prevention Network's Award of Excellence for outstanding contributions to the field of prevention.

For over a decade, Jason has been a co-investigator on studies involving norm perception, perceived risk, and brief interventions related to marijuana use by college students and young adults. This work has also included efforts to identify the most salient and relevant unwanted effects of marijuana use among young adults with implications for prevention messaging and interventions. Collectively, this experience has laid the foundation for his role as the principal investigator of Washington's Young Adult Health Survey, a cross-sectional and longitudinal survey of 18-25 year olds in Washington to assess substance use and emerging prevention and intervention needs following marijuana legalization.

KEYNOTE PRESENTATIONS

JEFF LINKENBACH | DISCOVERING THE POWER OF THE SCIENCE OF THE POSITIVE

The Science of the Positive is the study of how positive factors impact culture and experience. It focuses on how to measure and grow the positive, and has been applied over decades with individuals, state agencies, communities, and educational institutions. In this keynote session, participants will: 1. Explore the Cycle of Transformation within Science of the Positive Framework (SOTP); 2. Assess and apply the four domains of with media messages; 3. Identify key constructs including: Moving from Busy -to- Effective; Concern and Hope; Comparing Change – and – Transformation; 4. Reflect and integrate lessons learned and identify ways to apply the Science of the Positive - both personally and professionally.

STACI HOFF | MARIJUANA AND DRIVING: EARLY EXPERIENCES FROM WA STATE

Dr. Hoff will present new information and analysis of THC fatal crash-involved drivers in Washington State using the detailed toxicology abstracts. As a follow-up to WTSC's initial report covering years 2010-2014, information from Volume 2 of our report series emphasizing the interaction of alcohol with THC will be presented. Marijuana use and driving information from the Healthy Youth Survey, the Behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance Survey, and the Washington Roadside Survey will also be covered.

JASON KILMER | WHEN AN OUNCE PREVENTION IS WORTH EVEN MORE THAN A POUND: OVERLAPPING HEALTH ISSUES AND HOW PREVENTION WITH ONE PAYS DIVIDENDS WITH THE OTHER

In this keynote presentation, we will explore co-occurring and overlapping health issues and behaviors, with a focus on ways in which substance use could exacerbate, or even cause challenges, elsewhere. Participants will consider ways in which prevention efforts with one health behavior could impact another.

JORDAN CHANEY | LAVA WALKERS LEADERSHIP CHALLENGE

Lava Walkers Leadership Challenge is a workshop for everyone from Kindergartens to College Students and even Educators and Corporate America. This interactive workshop is packed with lessons in heart & humor, but most importantly, personal growth. Individuals go on an adventure in communication, creativity, and confidence, all while learning how to break the unconscious, debilitating habit of following others and abandoning dreams.

JEREMY GOLDBACH | THE GRAND CHALLENGE OF ADDRESSING SOCIAL STIGMA: OPPORTUNITIES FOR PREVENTION WITH MARGINALIZED YOUTH

Stigma is a powerful tool for maintaining power imbalance and denying equal access to resources. This plenary session will introduce adults to the importance of considering power and oppression in their work.

TY SELLS | POWER OF ACCEPTANCE

The Power of Acceptance is a fun, youth-oriented presentation that challenges young people to make positive choices in regard to alcohol, tobacco, and other drugs. The presentation is focused on the positive side of being drug free as opposed to the negative consequences of choosing to use. It also challenges students to examine the way they treat others who are "different" from them.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 3 | WORKSHOP SESSION I | 10:30 - NOON

A1 APPLYING THE SCIENCE OF THE POSITIVE TO GROW POSITIVE COMMUNITY NORM

BALLROOM H

Jeff Linkenbach, Ph.D., MA in Counseling, Research Scientist at The Montana Institute & Fellow at the University of Montana – Mansfield Academy of Global Leadership

The Science of the Positive is the study of how positive factors impact culture and experience. It focuses on how to measure and grow the Positive, and has been applied over decades with individuals, state agencies, communities, and educational institutions. It is based on seven core assumptions that can be applied to ourselves, our families, our workplaces, tribes, and our communities. This program will focus on uncovering and applying the seven core assumptions of the Science of the Positive to grow positive community norms. The Science of the Positive should not be confused with simple "positive thinking." It is a rigorous process that works across entire communities and cultures. And while the Science of the Positive is based on the core assumption that the positive exists in every community and culture, it recognizes that suffering, pain, and harm are very real. One of its principal aims is to reduce suffering in our families, our communities, and ourselves – by strategically framing the integration of both concern and hope.

A2 MEDICINE ABUSE PREVENTION & SECURE MEDICINE RETURN POLICIES

BALLROOM F

Margaret Shield, Ph.D., Community Environmental Health Strategies LLC; Erin James, MBA, CPP, Outreach Marijuana & Opiate Prevention Coordinator, King County Behavioral Health and Recovery Division

Preventing abuse of prescription opioids and other medications starts with the home medicine cabinet. We will examine "Mind Your Meds" strategies, with a focus on policies to increase convenient options for safe medicine disposal. Learn how new drop boxes in pharmacies and hospitals, as well as prepaid return mailers, are now provided by drug manufacturers in counties with Secure Medicine Return ordinances.

A3 DOES YOUTH ADVOCACY REALLY PAY?

BALLROOM G

Janine Koffel, MS.Ed, CPP, Health Promotion and Prevention Professional

Teens get involved in prevention coalition work for a lot of different reasons, but few probably think about how their experience can increase their cash money earning power. Employers today want skilled and savvy employees with strong "soft" skills like problem-solving, critical thinking, public speaking confidence, and demonstrated ability to work collaboratively. Do your teens realize they have those skills? It's up to you, as their mentor/advisor to help them identify how they are becoming workplace ready through their work with your coalition. You can help them earn scholarships, become employed, or be accepted to college. This workshop will show you how!

A4 OPIOIDS - CHARACTERISTICS, PREVALENCE, POLICIES

BALLROOM B

Steven Freng, Psy.D., MSW, Prevention/Treatment Manager, Northwest High Intensity Drug Trafficking Area (HIDTA)

The opioid epidemic continues unabated nationally and in the Pacific Northwest. Learn about the history of opioids and their place in ancient and modern cultures; the various pharmaceutical opioids available and specific detail about the most commonly prescribed medications; the effects of opioids; background information about heroin – and fentanyl; overdose prevention; syringe exchanges; safe disposal practices; and web addresses for more information.

A5 EVIDENCE-BASED PRACTICE - EXPLORING THE INTERFACE BETWEEN EVIDENCE RATING SYSTEMS AND PRACTITIONERS

RED LION EAST

Adam Darnell, Ph.D., Senior Research Associate, Washington State Institute for Public Policy (WSIPP)

This presentation will begin with an overview of WSIPP's evidence rating system, discussing the different inventories WSIPP produces and our website, including a brief discussion of our methods for assessing evidence and conducting benefit-cost analysis. We will also discuss findings from the most recent updates of WSIPP's inventories of youth and adult behavioral health programming, focusing on prevention programs generally. The intent of the presentation is to familiarize attendees with the information available from WSIPP resources, as well as to explore how attendees use evidence from WSIPP or other sources, in the interest of improving the flow of information between research and practice arenas. We will invite questions and feedback concerning WSIPP resources throughout the session.

A6 ADVOCACY FOR PREVENTION PEOPLE

RED LION WEST

Anna Marie Dufault, M.Ed., Learning Support Coordinator, ESD 105; Lisa Stewart, WASAVP Board Member

Me? An advocate? That's right, YOU are! The voice of prevention people is important. Come learn why and how to effectively advocate with a variety of audiences and strengthen your advocacy strategies to engage the whole community.

B1 DRUG FREE COMMUNITIES PROGRAM

BALLROOM H

Greg Grass, MSW, Public Health Advisor, Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA)

This workshop will explain the DFC grant program history and purpose, the application requirements, timeline and process, and provide tips for coalition readiness to apply for the grant.

B2 A DISCUSSION OF PREVENTION ETHICS IN THE LEGAL ERA – UNPACKING THE GRAY

BALLROOM F

Derek Franklin, MA, WASAVP Board Member; Liz Wilhelm, M.S., CPP, PSCBW Ethics Chair, WASAVP Co-VP

As prevention professionals, whether we are certified or not, whether we work in community coalitions or school settings, we are all bound by some code of ethical conduct. In recent years, the prevention field has seen significant changes in funding levels and sources, workforce strength, partners in our work, and the status and availability of the drugs targeted by our prevention strategies. Join members of the Prevention Specialist Certification Board of Washington and the Washington Association of Substance Abuse and Violence Prevention in reviewing the current Prevention Code of Ethical Conduct as applied to our state's contemporary prevention work in unpacking the gray. (1.5 ethics CEH)

B3 FOREFRONT IN THE SCHOOLS: A COMPREHENSIVE APPROACH TO MENTAL HEALTH PROMOTION AND SUICIDE PREVENTION

BALLROOM G

Shira Rosen, MSW, Director of Schools and Higher Education Programs, Forefront Suicide Prevention; Harry Brown, MA, LMFT, Middle School Counselor, Mercer Island Schools

This workshop will explore Forefront in the Schools, a school-based cohort model for mental health promotion and suicide prevention. We will discuss the model, results to date, go through a short version of the LEARN™ suicide prevention training and provide resources. There will be time to discuss what you do in your own school or district and ways you can enhance the work.

B4 SUICIDE AND SUBSTANCE USE

BALLROOM B

Shannon Baillie, MSW, Director of Health & Wellness, University of Washington

Both substance use and suicide are concerns in our communities, particularly for our youth. This workshop will discuss current trends and community strategies for addressing these co-occurring topics.

B5 THE MILITARY, ITS CULTURE, ITS FAMILY

RED LION WEST

Janis Clark, Ph.D. Candidate, M.S., HRMD, B.A., Business Management - Retired Commissioned Officer in the Military, The Military Wellness Initiative Network (MILWIN)

Introduction to how the uniqueness of the military culture is linked to increasing capacity, outreach and engagement to Military Service Members, Veterans and Their Families in Washington State. This workshop will help you facilitate improved collaboration and coordination of prevention services to the desired military populations.

B6 FINDINGS FROM THE 2ND REQUIRED REPORT ON THE EVALUATION AND BENEFIT-COST ANALYSIS OF I-502

RED LION EAST

Adam Darnell, Ph.D., Senior Research Associate, Washington State Institute for Public Policy (WSIPP)

Washington's recreational marijuana law, Initiative 502 (I-502), required the Washington State Institute for Public Policy to conduct a benefit-cost evaluation of implementation of the law from its enactment in 2012 through 2032. In this presentation I will discuss the second required report, released September 1, including preliminary findings of outcome analyses to identify effects of I-502 on youth and adult substance use, cannabis abuse treatment admissions, and drug-related criminal convictions. These findings represent a snapshot of our progress to date and are an intermediate step towards the ultimate benefit-cost analysis of I-502.

B7 STARTS WITH ONE - WASHINGTON OPIOID AWARENESS CAMPAIGN

YAKIMA RM. (RED LION)

Michelle Hege, BA in English Literature, MS in Organizational Communication, APR, CEO, DH; Hayley Graham, BBA, Account Director, DH

The Washington State Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS) has launched an opioid abuse prevention campaign. The campaign is designed to inform and educate Washingtonians about the dangers of prescription drug misuse and abuse as well as promote safe storage and safe disposal practices. This workshop will provide an overview of the campaign and a focus on how communities can use campaign tactics in their own areas.

ADULT WORKSHOPS

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 3 | WORKSHOP SESSION III | 4:15 - 5:45 PM

C1 SOCIAL JUSTICE: HEAD, HEART, AND COMMUNITY

BALLROOM H

Vaughnetta Barton, MSW, University of Washington

We've known for a long time that prevention services make an impact. We do this work from the heart with a commitment to those in our community. Where does social justice fit and how can I add it to my work and to my life—for greater impact? Attendees will leave this session knowing how they can impact social justice issues in their community.

C2 POWER OF THE PARTNERSHIP: ESD'S, CPWI AND OTHER PREVENTION PARTNERS

RED LION WEST

Anna Marie Dufault, M.Ed., Learning Support Coordinator, ESD 105

School aged youth spend on average six hours a day in school. These youth are the prime audience for prevention efforts. Come learn how to successfully partner with schools and districts in your community to significantly impact youth, their peers and families.

C3 MENTORING IN THE 21ST CENTURY

BALLROOM F

Pamila Gart, Sr. Program Officer, Mentoring Works WA

Helping students to write the narrative they want for their future is the focus of this workshop. Here you will learn why and how critical consciousness is beneficial for your program, your mentors, and the youth, and their families. In this workshop, we will work with some new tools you can use to incorporate critical consciousness for your mentor and mentee training curriculum.

C4 PREVENTION EFFORTS AND OUTCOMES IN THE NOOKSACK INDIAN TRIBE

BALLROOM G

Nooksack Indian Tribe - Peter Joseph, SPF TIG Director, Treatment Director; Frank James, Epidemiologist, Medical Officer; Julia Dilley, Lead Evaluator

The Nooksack Indian Tribe will be presenting their efforts in the field of tribal prevention, as well as successes and outcomes to date. The speakers will include successes from their recent and past federal grant awards, including their work with the Strategic Prevention Framework For Prescriptions Drugs (SPF-Rx) grant from the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA).

C5 HOW TO BECOME A CERTIFIED PREVENTION PROFESSIONAL (CPP) (YOU CAN DO IT!)

BALLROOM B

Jackie Berganio, BA, CPP, ICPS, Community Coordinator; Gunthild Sondhi, M.Ed., CPP, ICPS, President, Prevention Specialist Certification Board of Washington; Erin James, MBA, CPP, Outreach Marijuana & Opiate Prevention Coordinator

Wonder what types of jobs are available in the prevention field? Are you required to obtain a CPP by your employer and/or funder? Come to this workshop and learn from Prevention Specialist Certification Board of Washington members who will talk about how they obtained their CPP and provide you insights to make your credentialing process more manageable. A sample application form will also be shared and information will be given about the testing process.

C6 DEFINING AND USING EVIDENCE-BASED PROGRAMS, PRACTICES AND STRATEGIES FOR COMMUNITY-BASED PREVENTION

RED LION EAST

Julia Havens, CPP, Prevention System Implementation Manager, Washington State Department of Social and Health Services; Angie Funaiolo, MS, Ph.D. Candidate, Prevention System Manager, Washington State Department of Social and Health Services

This workshop will provide an overview of the ways that Washington State Department of Social and Health Services' Division of Behavioral Health and Recovery (DSHS/DBHR) Substance Use Disorder Prevention and Mental Health Promotion Unit defines, categorizes, and uses evidence-based programs and practices (EBPs). We will explore, in an interactive way, why EBPs are important in prevention, criteria, and considerations for selecting EBPs. Implementation fidelity and adaptations as well as evaluation will also be discussed.

C7 STARTS WITH ONE - WASHINGTON OPIOID AWARENESS CAMPAIGN

YAKIMA RM. (RED LION)

Michelle Hege, BA in English Literature, MS in Organizational Communication, APR, CEO, DH; Hayley Graham, BBA, Account Director, DH

The Washington State Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS) has launched an opioid abuse prevention campaign. The campaign is designed to inform and educate Washingtonians about the dangers of prescription drug misuse and abuse as well as promote safe storage and safe disposal practices. This workshop will provide an overview of the campaign and a focus on how communities can use campaign tactics in their own areas.

USE YOUR VOICE

ADULT WORKSHOPS

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 4 | WORKSHOP SESSION IV | 9:45 - 11:15 AM

D1 SPECIAL CONSIDERATIONS FOR PREVENTION WITH LGBTQ YOUTH

BALLROOM H

Jeremy Goldbach, Ph.D., LMSW, Assistant Professor, USC

Sexual and Gender minority youth (e.g., lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender) report significantly higher rates of substance use from their peers. This workshop will help participants understand the many different factors that influence youth, in an effort to help identify new approaches to prevention practice.

D2 HEALTHY NATIVE YOUTH: SHARING ENGAGING, CULTURALLY-RELEVANT HEALTH CURRICULA FOR NATIVE YOUTH

BALLROOM F

Colbie Caughlan, MPH, Suicide Prevention Project Manager, Healthy Native Youth, NW Portland Area Indian Health Board

It can be challenging for health educators to locate engaging, age-appropriate health curricula for Native youth. Healthy Native Youth is a one-stop-shop for tribal health advocates to access effective, culturally-relevant healthy decision-making curricula for AI/AN youth. The portal allows users to filter and compare curricula on several dimensions to determine best-fit. It includes all materials needed for implementation, including: facilitator training tools, lesson plans, marketing materials, information about how the program was designed, evaluation findings, and references to publications and reports. The site also allows users to upload and submit their own health curricula for national distribution. Workshop participants will take a sneak peek at curricula available on the site, including a new video training that will prepare adults who work with Native youth to identify youth who post or view concerning posts on social media, and connect them to appropriate services.

D3 WHAT IS MENTORING IN WASHINGTON? HOW CAN YOU START A PROGRAM OR EMBED PRACTICES?

BALLROOM G

Janet Heubach, Ph.D., Deputy Director of Programs, Mentoring Works Washington

This session presents the research-based youth mentoring Standards, the range of youth mentoring as practiced in Washington, a profile of the size and purposes of the more than 100 formal mentoring programs in Washington, common challenges experienced by youth mentoring programs, and a brief review of seminal research on youth outcomes, including the ground-breaking 2017 research on match endings in mentoring relationships. Participants will be engaged in a discussion of how essential practices for youth mentoring can be embedded in other youth development programs. The presenter also will guide participants to the key national and regional resources for formal youth mentoring programs, including the National Quality Mentoring System and varied Toolkits from MENTOR.

D4 PROBLEM GAMBLING – FROM PREVENTION TO RECOVERY

BALLROOM B

Jim Leingang, B.A., CDP, WSGC II, Community Engagement and Advocacy Specialist, Evergreen Council on Problem Gambling; Elizabeth Gleivish, B.A., Communications and Outreach Specialist, Evergreen Council on Problem Gambling

This session will provide a holistic view of problem gambling in Washington State, including Prevention Awareness, Education, Treatment and Aftercare. We will examine limits and gaps in services, emerging trends and building support communities. Special attention will be paid to prevention best practices and programs currently supported by the Evergreen Council on Problem Gambling.

D5 EFFECTIVE COMMUNITY COALITION AND TRIBAL PARTNERSHIPS BEGIN WITH ABC AND END WITH XYZ

RED LION EAST

Ladonna Boyd-Bluff, BA, CDP, Prevention Coordinator, Kalispel Tribe; Carrie McKinley, Certified Prevention Professional (CPP), Prevention Specialist and CPW Coalition Coordinator, Pend Oreille County Counseling Services

This workshop is about continuing effective partnerships through respectful communication, active listening and enhanced collaboration on projects and events in our shared community.

D6 DRUG DIVERSION: WHAT IT MEANS AND HOW TO PREVENT IT

RED LION WEST

Ricardo Quintero, Diversion Program Manager (DPM), Drug Enforcement Agency (DEA)

This session will bring medical professionals up to date on their role in helping to curb the problem of prescription drug abuse, identifying common "red flags" regarding errant prescribing, and recognizing forgeries and recipient drug-seeking behavior, as well as details regarding the rescheduling of hydrocodone and much more.

YOUTH WORKSHOPS

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 3 | WORKSHOPS (REPEATED) | 9:10 - 11:00 AM

1 THE POWER OF HOPE & CONCERN: USING YOUR VOICE TO REDUCE SUBSTANCE ABUSE SUITE 600

Jeff Linkenbach, Ph.D., MA in Counseling, Research Scientist at The Montana Institute & Fellow at the University of Montana – Mansfield Academy of Global Leadership

There is tremendous power in your voice if you know how to focus your message. The Science of the Positive Framework can teach you how to be effective by combining your HOPES and CONCERNS about substance abuse in your community. This workshop is highly interactive and will teach you this powerful way of using your voice for making a positive change for any difficult issue you will face. Come ready to work in small groups and learn together.

2 WHAT CAN YOUTH DO ABOUT RX DRUG ABUSE? SUITE 500

Erin James, MBA, CPP, Outreach Marijuana & Opiate Prevention Coordinator, King County Behavioral Health and Recovery Division; Janine Koffel, MS.Ed, CPP, Health Promotion and Prevention Professional

Prescription medication abuse has been identified as a national crisis and YOUTH can do something about it in their communities. Hear how YOUTH can make a difference by reducing social access and building first-responder capacity. Develop your advocacy plan for a community Rx drug take-back program and increase awareness about the life-saving overdose reversal drug, Narcan, at this hands-on workshop for YOUTH.

3 TENSPIRATION: THE ATTITUDE TO CHANGE YOUR WORLD SUITE 400

Ty Sells, BA, Certified Prevention Specialist II, Director of Training and Development, Youth to Youth International

An autistic student in New York scores 20 points in a varsity basketball game on senior night. A Chinese man stands in front of three tanks in Tiananmen because he believes he is right and his government is wrong. A teacher in a tough school district motivates her students to achieve beyond their wildest dreams. These are all true stories, all memorable, all inspirational. None were an accident. Inspirational moments aren't some fluke that happen every now and again. They are the result of many people making anonymous choices, just because they are the right things to do. No one in this world gets anywhere without being challenged and inspired by someone else, and we all inspire others without even knowing it. The dictionary gives 5 definitions of inspiration, but each of them calls for an action. As leaders, if we truly want to inspire others, we must stimulate thought and provoke action.

4 SPEAK UP! YOU HAVE THE POWER TO EFFECTIVELY INFLUENCE POLICYMAKERS SUITE 300

Julie Peterson, Senior Director of Policy, Foundation for Healthy Generations; Hannah Stewart, High School Senior

Come to this interactive workshop and learn how to effectively influence elected officials and other policymakers who are making decisions about policies that impact the lives of youth. You'll leave the workshop with a Youth Advocacy Guide and access to free on-demand advocacy videos.

5 YOUNG AND VULNERABLE: THE EFFECTS OF ACES, TRAUMA, AND RESILIENCY ON MENTAL HEALTH SUITE 200

Tyree Abella, Teddy Avestruz, Noah Logman, Messiah Biney-McCullum, Gustavo Garcia, & Chala Mohammed (Cleveland High School Students, Garfield High School Students, & Seattle Central College Student)

Discover how common Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs) are and how they affect one's risk for suicide and other problems. We will discuss ways to protect yourself against the trauma of ACEs and become more resilient. This workshop will be led by the Seattle Peer Mental Health Educators, a group of young men of color working to improve mental health and prevent suicide in our communities.

6 YOUTH CONNECTION – "I AM NOT ALONE" SUITE 100

Janis Clark, Ph.D. Candidate, M.S., HRMD, B.A., Business Management - Retired Commissioned Officer in the Military, The Military Wellness Initiative Network (MILWIN)

This workshop mission is to help especially military children and youth in adversity build coping skills and resilience to create positive futures. It will help youth develop the life skills in the area of critical thinking, decision-making, communication, managing feelings, stress management and goal setting to help them resist risky behaviors.
